Report On Pre placement talk

Name of event :- One day pre placement talk to students.

Date of event :- 4th December 2023

Place of event :- ACS College of engineering

Organized by :- Electronics and Communication Engineering and Bio-medical engineering department

Resource person:- Mr. Deepak Kharol (Skillovilla technologies Pvt Ltd, Bengaluru)

Introduction:-

Data science and data analytics are closely related but there are key differences between the two fields.

While both fields involve working with data to gain insights, data analytics tends to focus more on analyzing past data to inform decisions in the present, while data science often involves using data to build models that can predict future outcomes.

Data Science is the application of tools, processes, and techniques towards combining, preparing and examining large datasets and then using programming, statistics, machine learning and algorithms to design and build new data models.

Data analytics is the use of tools and processes to combine, prepare and analyze datasets to identify patterns and develop actionable insights
